TIGERS SHAPING UP FOR YALE

Coach Roper Claims One of the Best Princeton Elevens—Backfield is Fast and All-Star.

Saturday, Princeton and Yale line up in their 34th annual football game. The match was played at New Haven last year, and by process of rotation will be fought at this time at University field, Princeton. New grandstands have been erected at the east side and south end of the field, and an extension of the west side stand, where 9,000 Yale sympathizers will sit, has been made. The seating capacity will be 28,000, some 1,500 greater than at any previous game. Applications for seats have been closed and if there are any left they will go to the public without discrimination.

Head Coach Roper explains this as follows: "The policy of the football management this year has been to develop the team slowly with a view to teach top form on the day of the Yale game. While it has been realized that this year the Princeton team will be one of the past few seasons Princeton must win all her games in order to get back on the football map, still no attempt has been made to push the defense to the detriment of the final game."

What Roper Says.
"All fall great stress has been laid on tackling and falling on the ball, two fundamental points as important under the new as under the old rules. The tackling as the season progresses has shown a marked improvement and the men follow the ball well."

Team in Great Condition.
"The one thing that stands out prominently this year is the wonderful condition of the team. In every game the men have left the field playing better at the end than at the start and would have always been able to have been called upon, to stand another half. This augurs well for the championship game, where condition often wins or loses the game. The hospital list has been very small, few injuries received have been entirely of the minor sort and not in a game this year has a Princeton player left the field on account of injury. This speaks volumes for the new rules and the excellent supervision of Keene Fitzpatrick, who had charge of the squad's training."

Backfield One of Fastest in Years.
"Our backfield is one of the fastest that we have had in Princeton in years. The backs run hard and they feel in splendid style. Their greatest weakness is their open field defense and their failure to take men on the interference. Ballou's kicking has stood out prominently, but as yet he fails to run the team quite fast enough."

The trouble that Roper has had with his line and the changes that he has made in it are too well known for repetition, but Roper is banking strong on his backfield.
Ballou is to be used at quarterback and to do the kicking. He runs the team with a great deal of judgment, and is fast as an end runner or a returner of punts. In every game so far he has outplayed his opponents and his work in placing punts and on-side kicks has won him much favorable comment. His kicks average 40 yards and his toe will prove quite a factor in the Yale game.

Pendleton the Main Scorer.
Pendleton will of course play half-back and be Princeton's main scoring dependence, as he has been all the season. Pendleton is hard as nails and promises to enter the game without injuries.
Sparks is the regular right half and is a good running mate for Pendleton. Sparks is known as the hardest worker on the team and his scoring ability is second only to that of Pendleton. He is fast as well as a fighter.
Capt. Hart Great on Defense.
Captain Hart has at last found his old place at fullback, after sacrificing himself largely by going into the line to plug up gaps in mid-season. Captain Hart is one of the fastest, strongest and most dependable men on the field and is in the game every minute. His defensive work is great. Now that the line is in better shape, he will have an opportunity of tearing up Yale's defense, and this he and his men of the backfield will be counted on to do by the local enthusiasts.

MORE DECEPTION IN MAKING FORWARD PASSES
Feints to Run Would Help in Puzzling the Opponents.
The football rules committee, in eliminating the 15 yard penalty for an uncompleted forward pass and leaving the penalty of a down, has given the teams more opportunity to attempt plays in which the ball is thrown forward. In limiting the zone of forward passes to 20 yards, the committee made another good amendment, and these changes have helped the play materially. With the 15 yard penalty in force, teams were afraid to take many chances with the play and the formation seldom was called by a team when the oval was in its own territory. In limiting all passes to 20 yards the offense and defense have been equalized more than under the old regime, when the oval could be thrown 20 or 40 yards down the field. The secondary defense is not compelled to play so far back, and it now is in position to assist the line on plunge attacks or off tackle drives. Coaches are experiencing no end of trouble in getting the eligible players into the open to receive the ball and the passes for the most part have been short comments Walter Eckersall upon the development of this play. The main trouble with the play has been the lack of deception. The passer seldom makes any feints as if to run with the ball and most of the passes have been made from formations close to the line, where deception is almost an impossibility. In throwing the ball close to the scrimmage line there always is a grave danger of having the pass blocked and the passer is in a poor position to pick out the eligible players of his side to whom he will throw the ball. Another difficulty with formations of this kind is that it does not allow time enough for the players to get into position to receive the ball. If the defensive team has a fast charging line which breaks through the forward pass with the passer close to the line, some of the five yards back of the line of scrimmage is sure to be lost. When a team is deposed by opposing linemen breaking through the passer always should make it a point to throw the ball from a position farther back of the line, and the more he is hurried the farther back he should stand.

Challenge Laurel Hills.
Capt. Matthew F. Geary of the Montville Lightweights football team sends a challenge to Capt. Horace Coy's Laurel Hills to play in Montville on November 12. Captain Geary says he had a team waiting to play the Laurel Hills last Saturday, but the Laurel Hills failed to show up. Now, if they are game to play the Montville team, let them answer Captain Geary, box 21, or through The Bulletin.

BASEBALL DEALS IN THE WORKS
St. Louis, Detroit and Boston Said to Be Ready to Swap With Others.
It is a well known fact that most every club owner in the American league has something up his sleeve in the way of trades. The Cleveland Plain-Dealer. All are willing to dispose of several of their men, but the Detroit Tigers are the only club in the American league who are not willing to do so. Just at present the team is without a leader. No one seems to be the material to work on is indeed limited. Of the outfielders Hartzell is really the only player of much value. Stone can hit fairly well, but he is an ordinary fielder, while his arm is so weak that he runs runners advance almost at will on any ball hit into his territory. Northern, the youngest secured from the Texas league, appears to be a good player, but he lacks experience. Schweitzer, who looked like a good man a few years ago, has fallen off badly in his work.
New Infield for St. Louis.
In the infield Bobby Truesdale is the only player of class. Truesdale is a second baseman, but just a trifle below major league form. Griggs will never do at first, his place being the outfield. While Corridor, who has been playing third, is a good fielder, he never has been able to hit enough to ensure a major league job. His average for the season played last fall was something like .092. In the other department of the game the team is only fairly well fortified, so it is a cinch that the St. Louis club will try to do some bartering this fall. It is said on good authority that Hodges is to be traded to the Boston Red Sox. Outfielder Griggs and the once great George Stone. It is claimed that Hodges is a good player, but he lacks experience. Stone is a good player, but he lacks experience. Hodges is a good player, but he lacks experience. Stone is a good player, but he lacks experience.

GROTESQUE NAMES.
Burdens That Innocent English Children Must Bear.
In England, and in other countries, thousands of people go through life cherishing a grudge against their parents for giving them absurd or incongruous names. It was most natural that a demure and pretty girl in a north suburb should feel resentful at her father's name, which was given in honor of the winner of a race fifteen years before. Among the names registered at Somerset House are Ails and Graces and Nun Nicer, which were innocently borne by two little girls who found them most embarrassing in after years. The appalling name of Wellington Wolsley Roberts was borne by a young man who, in disposition and appearance, was anything but militant, and as little likely to win fame on the battlefield as his predecessors Arthur Wellesley Wellington Waterloo and Napoleon the Great Eggar. However, even these names, inappropriate as they may be, are to be preferred to Roger the Ass, Anna (sic) Domini Davies and Bonadice Basher. To parents of large families the advent of another child is not always welcome, but it is scarcely kind to make the unexpected child bear a token of disapproval. It must be rather terrible to go through life, for example, as Not Wanted James. What Ann Only Fancy William Brown, or even as Last of Em Harper, or Still Another Hewitt. And yet these are all names which the foolish caprice of British parents has imposed on innocent children.—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE BELTED PLAID.
This Was the Original Dress of the Scottish Highlander.
The original dress of the highlander was the belted plaid. This was a piece of tartan cloth, two yards broad and four long, which was drawn around the waist in nicely adjusted folds and tightly buckled with a belt. The lower part came down to the knees in much the same manner as the modern kilt, while the upper part was drawn up and adjusted to the left shoulder, so that the right arm might be perfectly free. This upper part was the plaid, which was used as a covering for the shoulders and body in wet weather, and when the use of both arms was required it was fastened across the breast with a brooch, often curiously enriched. A brooch was also used to fasten the plaid on the left shoulder. To attire himself in the belted plaid required on the part of the highlander no small degree of dexterity. The usual way was to lay it on the floor and after carefully arranging the folds to lie down upon it and then buckle it on. The lower end was fastened at the right hip. The utility of such a dress in the highlands is obvious, for the plaid rendered the man indifferent to storms and prepared to pass a night in the open air in the most inclement weather, while the loose undergarment enabled him to wade rivers or ascend mountains with equal ease. It was thus peculiarly adapted to the warrior, the hunter and the shepherd.—London Mail.

Effects of Absinth.
When taken in excess absinth quickly deranges the digestive organs and destroys the appetite. An unappeasable thirst takes possession of the victim. The next stage produces delusions and unbearable mental depression and finally insanity. Equally horrible is the fate of the man who avoids orgies and drinks his absinth in smaller but regular doses. His face gradually becomes sallow and careworn, and his hair begins to drop off. Next come muscular quiverings, especially of the arms and shoulders. Loss of brain power follows, and he is haunted by horrible dreams and delusions. Gradually paralysis overtakes him and lands him in a merciful grave.—Pearson's.
